The Carson Appeal of Saturday morn-

In the Senate yesterday it is not surprising that the Smyth bill was killed, as it had two corporations to fight instead of one. If the competing road is determined to cut through Nevada and go to San Francisco, it will come any way and the water paragraph. way and the rates proposed in Smyth's bill would still not deter it. No one need apprehend that legislation will ever block any enterprise like the Denver & Rio Grande road with millions of capital behind it. Yet in the beating of the bill yesterday it pretty clearly demonstrates that the Denver & Ric Grande people mean to build a competing line want to get all the aid they can in their enterprise during the first few years of its existence. The C. P. fer once was in a curious position for so great a monopoly to occupy. It knew that were the high rates of tariff maintained it would be an encouragement for the new road to come in, while a bill which would discourage the new road would also bear on them. They took the horn of the dilemma which seemed the easiest to sit on and thus was witnessed two rival roads joining forces. If the new road is built, as it certainly will be, it will give the people of Nevada a relief that they can never hope for in their Legislatures, and out of yesterday's defeat they cen pluck the consolation that the present state of af-fairs will be changed when once there is a through competing line from Salt Lake to San Francisco. The writer knows from conversations held with representatives of the new road in Salt Lake and Denver, that this plan will be carried out, as the preliminary surveys have been made, the necessary passes in the mountains taken up, and everything in readiness to push the enter-prise. This will lift a barden from Nevada's commerce and insure her a prosperous future.

Cattle on the Western Ranges

An Omaha dispatch of the 9th conains the subjoined information for cattle dealers in this vicinity: The condition of cattle since the recent heavy snow storm and the extremely cold weather continues to be a matter ly cold weather continues to be a matter of interest. So far, nearly all the reports are favorable. The weather has greatly moderated, and in some places the snow is being lifted by the winds sufficiently to give the cattle a chance to get the grass, but the most trouble arises from lack of water. William A. Payton one of the largest cattle owners Paxton, one of the largest cattle owners has returned to Omaha from his range on the North Platte river, in Western Nabraska, where he has 20,000 eattle, and he failed to find any dead from the effects of the storm. He is perfectly easy about the situation, and says there is only six inches of snow in Western Nebraska, and cattle can get plenty of grass as snow is light and drifting. There is no loss as yet worth mentioning. Some old cows and young stock may suffer, but not to amount to one per cent. He apprehends no serious loss, and claims that the recent snow storm and cold weather are not to be to endure it for any length of time, whereas, the cattle this Winter are in better condition than ever before known. What he says regarding the situation on ably reported that there is not over two or three inches of snow, and the cattle are in good condition and able to procure plenty of grass. In southwestern Nebraska along the Colorado line, there is considerable snow and the cattle are crowding along the track of the Union Pacific and Denver short line, and quite a number are being killed by the cars, but none as yet have died from the effects of the weather. The following is extracted from the Union Pacific cattle reports received yesterday. In the vicinity of Platte rivers, the north and south branches, and between the same, the snow lies the despest, and the cattle are weaker and thinner than at more remote points. There is more danger from lack of water than lack of food. As yet, but few, if any, cattle are dying, and unless additional snow falls, or the present weather continues an undue length of time, no danger is apprehend-The conclusion from all reports is The high price of beef in this market that the outlook is not discouraging general tenor, although the snow is
